Headline:
Rather cloudy, patchy rain, but bright spells in north.

Today:
A mainly cloudy day though some brighter spells are likely over the north of Aberdeenshire and Moray. A little patchy rain is expected though it will turn clearer after dusk. Fairly strong south or southwest winds. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Most of the night will be dry with some clear periods especially in the east. The odd shower may penetrate from the west, mainly in the evening. A colder night. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Wednesday:
Mostly dry with some sunny spells, perhaps the odd light shower in the west. Moderate to fresh westerly breeze easing. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Thursday turning milder with some light rain but the east coast brightening up. Very mild, windy. Some rain Friday afternoon , then brightening up later. Bright, showery on Saturday.
